

At SCA, our mission is to provide essential products that improve the quality of everyday life.

SCA Tissue is one of the largest producers of Away-From-Home tissue products in the world. We are committed to developing innovations that improve our customers' businesses and their bottom lines. We accomplish this through unique dispensing systems and products, supported by unparalleled, customer-focused service.

What do you need?

While healthcare professionals have similar concerns about workplace hygiene and operational costs, the specific needs at the nurses station of a small clinic are much different than those of a cafeteria at a major medical center. Which is why SCA has designed specific solutions that not only provide the hygienic attributes you need, but also deliver more of the precise benefits you want.

Simply put, your needs guide our product offerings. You told us you need to control cross contamination by eliminating the spread of bacteria and infection...all while reducing costs, minimizing waste and meeting governmental regulations. We responded by developing hands-free dispensers, controlled-consumption designs, maintenance-free constructions, high-capacity, easy-loading options and many other innovations.

SCA's ultimate goal is to offer products that deliver an ideal balance of hygiene, quality, image and performance. A balance that delivers a reduction in your total acquisition cost.

Whatever your needs, SCA has a solution that will perform in your environment.
